A Practical View Of The Local Option Question In Paris.

Legislation cannot control men's appetites. As long as the manufacture of liquor is legalized by the Government, it will continue to be made; so long as human nature remains as it is, it will continue to be drunk. This proposition is axiomatic and will remain so until the end of time. Practical experience everywhere has demonstrated that liquor will always be sold; with license, if it can be obtained; without it, if it cannot. If prohibition does not prohibit—and it is generally admitted that it does not—the question to be determined is—what is the best way to regulate the use of liquor as a beverage? Is it by local option laws or by permitting its sale under license?

Experience is the best teacher and this question can best be solved by an observation and analysis of existing conditions in the city of Paris.

A few days ago, the recognized leader of the temperance cause in this city said to two prominent citizens: "I know, and so does every one else, that the saloonkeepers of Paris are obeying the law. I know that they close their places on Sunday; do not sell liquor to minors and do not permit gambling in any form. These places are as well conducted as it is possible for them to be, but we don't want the sale of liquor licensed in the city of Paris." This is a strong statement, but, as said, is known by everybody to be a true one. It is the doing of the very things which the gentleman says he knows are not done in this place, that generally gives rise to the prejudice that most people have, not against the sale of liquor, but against saloons. If under the present laws, which throw many proper safeguards around the licensed sale of liquor, such conditions can be created and maintained, it would seem that there is small need for any change in the law. It would rather appear to be the part of sound public policy to "let well enough alone."

It is generally admitted that the laws are more rigidly enforced and more closely observed in Paris than in any other city in Kentucky, and the majority of the people are absolutely satisfied with present conditions. Under such circumstances, they should consider well before voting to substitute for the present laws, which the Mayor and County Attorney have demonstrated can be enforced, a law which even warmest advocates admit can only be enforced, if enforced at all, by the exercise of constant and extraordinary vigilance on the part of the officials—by the formation of Law and Order Leagues—by the offer and giving of rewards for the conviction of offenders against the law, and by the employment of hired spies and detectives to apprehend violators of it. No one has ever heard of a city of any size where the officials have been able to prevent the illegal sale of liquor. The report of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue shows that in spite of the most drastic laws, there were more government licenses to retail liquor issued in Vermont and in New Hampshire while prohibition was in effect than there are now under license. Even Kansas, which has been a prohibition state since 1877, has more government licenses to retail liquor in proportion to population than Kentucky; in 1905 Kansas had one license for every 428 while Kentucky had one for every 494 of its population. All of the advocates of local option in Paris admit that such conditions exist in every other city where such law is in effect, but say that they will not be allowed to exist here. Why? Are they more in earnest than the advocates of the law in other places, or do they expect the officials here to do what has never been done in any other city. The question naturally presents itself—why ask the officials of Paris and Bourbon county to perform the impossible or add unnecessary burdens when their duties are already arduous enough? The future can only be judged by the past; the ocean of time is strewn with the wreck of prohibition movements, and the natural inference is that history can only repeat itself in the city of Paris.

An investigation will show that the laws are more closely observed in Paris—there are fewer confirmed drunkards—fewer drunken men seen on the streets—the general peace and good order of the community, as good if not better, than in any city in Kentucky where a local option law is in effect. In view of these facts, every reasonable man must ask himself—what is the necessity for an agitation of the liquor question in Paris and what good will it do?

A careful consideration of the above statements must inevitably lead every intelligent person to the conclusion that a vote for local option would be opposed to the moral interests of the people of this community. He must also conclude that the sale of liquor under proper restrictions and regulations, which, as under the present regime, the saloonkeeper must either obey or go out of business, is the best proper solution of the question.

Legislation along such lines always has always been, and from necessity always must prove a failure. It might be well to contrast this idea of Temperance Militant—this effort to invoke the strong arm of the law to save men in spite of themselves—with the methods advocated by Francis Murphy, the greatest apostle of temperance this country has ever known, and the one who did its cause the greatest good. He said: "We are apt to get dictatorial when we save people. It isn't right. It is well to be humble. I know of nothing that can save you but mercy. Just remember that I am not finding fault with any other method of saving men, but officers cannot reach the appetite. The legislature cannot control a man's appetite. While it is well to undertake to do certain things by acts of legislation, there are things that the legislature cannot do and it is no use to try. The law does not save a man. If Moses could have saved by law, there would have been no need for another Saviour. Now remember that Christ never went after a man with the city marshal, but with the grace of God. You must have the grace of God and the love of your kind in your hearts. I am not a Prohibitionist, a local optionist or a high-license man. I do not meddle in politics, but simply believe in saving men by love."

Interurban Cars On Paris Line Collide.

Two interurban cars on the Paris line collided at stop 27, Saturday afternoon at 4:20 o'clock. The Lexington bound car was coming over the brow of the hill at that point and the Paris car was almost to the top of the grade, in consequence of which neither was running at great speed.

The fog was so dense that the motorists had no chance to see the lights until almost together, but quick action averted further damage than a smashing of the pilots on the cars.

The crews in charge were Motorman Hampton and Conductor Roy Turner, Ad Diamond and Conductor Davies.

Pearce Paton Announces.

In another column will be found the announcement of Pearce Paton, the present incumbent, as a candidate for the office of County Clerk of Bourbon county, subject to the action of the Democratic party. We do not know whether Mr. Paton will have any opposition for the office or not; but it is safe to say he will be hard to beat. There is no more popular young man in Bourbon County than "Little Bally" Paton. During his connection with the office as deputy under his father, the late E. D. Paton, he made many friends. There is hardly a person in the county he has not done a favor for at some time, and they will all remember it and will all feel it a pleasure to vote for him to continue in the office. He has the business of the office at his finger ends, and is courteous, polite and obliging to all who have business with him. The man who defeats "Bally" will truly have to "hustle."

Report For February.

Since the reopening of the schools after the burning of our school building, 450 pupils have been enrolled. Owing to the excuse made by many, that our "new quarters" are not commodious, etc., the attendance has not been so good as formerly. It should have been at least 400 but it is only 365. Quite a number have been reported sick; many could not get their books at once, and have not yet entered, but twelve or fourteen are reported by the truant officer ready to enter Monday.

As we lost all our records and only nine days of the month remained after the fire we did not deem it best to try to send out the regular monthly cards at the close of this month. We are glad indeed, to state to the patrons that both teachers and pupils, as a rule, are taking up their work with a zeal and enthusiasm that are highly commendable. A substantial proof of this is the fact that all the teachers and most of the pupils were glad of the opportunity to work on the 22nd, a legal holiday.

While our school rooms, tables and chairs are not what we desire, they are a good "make shift" and are not so bad as those now in use by other children in our State.

Again we solicit the hearty co-operation of all our patrons so that the year's work may be completed and the children promoted as usual.

Respectfully,
GEO. W. CHAPMAN, Supt.

Death Of Mrs. Ireland.

Mrs. Lucinda Turner Ireland, aged 75 years, died as the result of the infirmities of age at her residence on Duncan avenue, this city, Sunday morning, Mrs. Ireland was the daughter of Charles Turner and Mary Ward Turner and was a noble Christian woman, being a life-long member of the Presbyterian church. Her grandparents, William and Patsey Richards Turner, were natives of Maryland and moved to Kentucky before civilized methods had fashioned a road, landing at a point on the Ohio river, now Louisville, and afterwards came to Lexington by the buffalo trail, which at that time contained only a few rudely constructed cabins. They participated in the defense of Bryan's Station in Fayette county when the handful of men and women made such a gallant defense against the Indians.

Mrs. Turner was one of the women who came from the fort to procure water from the big spring for the men, among whom was her husband, notwithstanding more than 500 Indian warriors surrounded the structure. Mr. and Mrs. Turner in a few years located near Millersburg, where Mrs. Ireland's father, Charles Turner, was born in March 1803. Her grandfather died February 1, 1835, aged 85 years.

Mr. Charles Turner, father of Mrs. Ireland, was a prominent Bourbon county farmer and at the time of his death owned 600 acres of land. He was survived by two children, John W. Turner and Lucinda Turner, who afterwards married J. J. Ireland, who died at Jacksonville, Fla., in 1875, his body being brought here for burial. Mrs. Ireland has three children, two sons and one daughter, Messrs. John Ireland and C. F. Ireland, the latter a resident of Fort Arthur, Tex., and Mrs. Mary Ireland Davis, all of whom were at her bedside when she passed away.

The funeral will take place at the Second Presbyterian church this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Services by Rev. Dr. E. H. Rutherford. Burial at Paris cemetery.

Two years ago when Mrs. Ireland was seriously ill she selected the following pall bearers, all of whom will officiate at the solemn service today: Judge Denis Dundon, R. K. McCarney, Sidney G. Clay, Joseph M. Hall, Dr. W. C. Usery and John M. Clay.

Cigarette Habit Growing.

The tobacco statistics of the past year, just issued, shows a marked increase in the number of cigarettes consumed in this country. The total output of cigarettes in 1906 was 4,368,729, 015, or about 60 for every man, woman and child in the United States, and an increase of three quarters of a million over 1905. This increase came in the face of almost ferocious efforts to crush the cigarette habit in many states and the consequent statutory restrictions enacted by legislatures which thought it had enough to be restricted, at least. And there is another phase. With the growth of smoking in general, there has come a great increase in the number of smokers who make their own cigarettes as they use them, because it is cheaper, or better, or both, and the quantity of smoke-sticks they consumed and which were not included in the figures must have been enormous. The grand total can be little short of appalling to those who know the injury that lies in cigarettes.

It is more than peculiar that with the war against cigarettes stronger than ever, and despite the warnings generally uttered, the trade has grown so tremendously. What caused this increase? Is it possible that the cigarette has taken on attractive qualities simply because it is the subject of so-called sumptuary legislation? It seems to be a case of prohibition that does not prohibit, and it is quite possible that the moral of it may be applied in other directions.

The Japs Must Go.

The San Francisco school question is practically settled. Mayor Schmitz and members of the School Board of that city have agreed that no discrimination shall be made against Japanese pupils, providing Japanese coolies are excluded from the country. Congress has undertaken to meet this condition, by a proper amendment to the Immigration bill which will probably reach the President before these lines are read. The Japanese coolies excluded, the San Francisco school affair will be a matter of history.

In the light of more recent events this tempest in a teapot appears to have been raised more to secure exclusion of Japanese coolies than anything else. The Executive Committees of the Japanese and Korean Exclusion league warned Mayor Schmitz that he should not return home if he should agree to any arrangement that did not provide for placing the Japanese on the same basis with the Chinese coolies. No alternative was permitted. Exclusion must be effected by legislation as well as by treaty, since a treaty was subject to interpretation and alteration by either party thereto. Thus the integrity of their own country was called in question by these San Francisco hot-heads, something that has been done by citizens of no other American city.

Whether this Exclusion league should be allowed to jeopardize the peach of this country and force a settlement that will sooner or later lead to more or less trouble, is another question which need not be discussed here. It is sufficient to say that this whole matter does not disclose the gratitude of the people of San Francisco, for assistance recently so generously extended them, that some of the rest of us have a right to expect.

The Salary Grab.

When the Republican majority of the House of Representatives refused to allow a bill for the increase of the salaries of Congressmen from $5,000 to $7,500 it shows they were afraid of the people. As there is over 100 Republican majority in the present Congress there can be no blaming the grab on the Democrats, for when the roll was called on the original proposition they voted against it. In effect the increase gives a campaign fund of $2,500 to each Congressman, for the chief reason why the increase should be voted was that Congressmen could not afford to pay the necessary election expenses out of their small salary now the cost of living is so high. If this increased expense of $1,190,000 for salaries of Congressmen leads to the elimination of some of the useless ones by the increased incentive for a better class of men to seek the honor, the people will be to their increased taxation. All we can now do is to hope for the best and await the opportunity in 1908 to select lawmakers better worth the increased salary than many of the present Congress have shown themselves to be.

Schools, North and South.

Newspaper discussion regarding the disposition of the income of the $32,000,000 that John D. Rockefeller recently gave to the General Education Board has brought out some very interesting facts regarding schools, North and South. While the income of this immense fund is to be devoted to higher education, needs of the common schools in some sections of the country, especially in the South, have come into prominence. Some of the exhibit are especially interesting. Among them is a comparison of the expenditure per capita for the year 1903-04 between five Northern states and five Southern, as follows: Massachusetts, $5.42; New York, $5.63; New Jersey, $4.29; Illinois, $4.18; North Dakota, $6.25—Louisiana, $1.06; South Carolina, $1.84; Alabama, $1.64; Georgia, $1.96; Virginia, $1.11. In fairness it should be stated, however, that in proportion to their material resources the Southern states have provided most generously for their common schools, the expense per capita having more than doubled since 1880.

But, perhaps, the most astonishing comparison is that instituted by an educational paper which, in effect, is that New York city alone spends more money on public schools than is spent in all Pennsylvania; and more than in the 14 states from Delaware to Louisiana inclusive. New York City contains about one-half as many people as the State of Pennsylvania, and about one-fifth as many as the states mentioned; yet New York city's resources for school taxation purposes are not half so great as those of Pennsylvania, nor one-third as much as those of the 14 states. It would seem, therefore, that schools in the North are better supported in proportion to resources than schools of the South, notwithstanding the progress made in the South during the last 25 years. Better public schools in the South may yet solve some of its perplexing problems.

The Broad View.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., received a shock recently at the meeting of his Bible class. The New York World says that Mr. Rockefeller invited a free discussion on why young men do not go to church more. The last of the story is told by The World in this way: "A young man named Smythe, who has been a member of the class for several months and who is known to hold socialistic views, was immediately on his feet. Addressing Mr. Rockefeller, he said: 'I want to warn you in advance, Mr. Rockefeller, that I am an outspoken man, and may say things to offend some people here. The church has not outgrown its usefulness, and the reason why young men do not go to church is because the churches of this city are too fashionable and the young man is expected to pay a certain sum each Sunday, and if the young man is poorly dressed he feels that he is looked down upon. If the church was run on the old-time idea of one person being as good as another in God's house you would get the young men. We all have some pride, and if a man is forced to wear a seedy suit of clothes he knows that his better dressed brother would not sit on the bench beside him Sunday-school or church. This is one solid reason. A hard working man who has little money cannot stand being preached to on an empty stomach. If you fill his stomach before you preach to him he'll be more likely to listen to you and will come again. It is all very well to tell about the glory of the future life, but if you help him to get comfort and happiness in this world he'll appreciate it more than your promising happiness in the world to come.'

The Republican Majority.

What a terrible merry list of bills this Congress will produce when the day of adjournment arrives and unfortunately the dead ones are mostly what the people wanted. But the appropriation bills have been increased by the Republican majority by hundreds of millions.

They All Do It.

The election in Germany is quite likely to develop a good sized scandal based on the charge that money had passed from the Imperial Chancellor's office to a political organization, the Naval League, which was used in the interest of candidates favorable to the government. They all do it unless you watch them.

exhibits for the big Louisville event, it is now assured that Louisville will be able to offer to her visitors, from March 18 to 30, an opportunity of seeing the most novel collection of government exhibits ever shown in any great exposition. President Roosevelt has graciously agreed to press the button which will officially set the exposition in motion, and has instructed Secretary Loeb to make the necessary arrangements for the ceremony, which will take place in his office March 18.

The government exhibits are now in process of packing. It is understood, and they will soon be on their way to Louisville, where they will be seen by countless Kentuckians and other Southerners, as well as the people in a broad strip of Indiana and scattered delegations from nearly all the large cities in the United States where the Greater Louisville Exposition is about to be initiated. The arrangements which were begun during the month of December by A. T. Macdonald, President of the Exposition Company, were recently completed by Fred Levy, its Vice President, both of whom made lengthy trips to Washington, being greatly assisted there by Kentucky congressmen and government officials.

According to the latest plans, there will be sent to Louisville from the Treasury Department complete exhibits of the currency of the United States, and the various issues of internal revenue stamps which have been used at different periods of our national life. Both of these exhibits are very valuable, and heavy bond was required of the Exposition Company, showing that Uncle Sam values his relics and takes every precaution to protect them from harm or loss. These exhibits are attractively framed, with the view of allowing the closest possible inspection without handling. They will be under the direct supervision of Sergeant Hittiger of the war department, who, it is supposed at present, will be sent to Louisville to have general supervision over all government exhibits. Besides the stamps and currency notes, the Treasury Department has consented to send to Louisville a frame containing all the medals which have been voted to individuals by congress since the first one, which was voted to George Washington. These medals have a value in historical and memorial ways. They commemorate various deeds of heroism and statecraft, and should be viewed with intense interest by all who see them.

The Navy Department will send to Louisville a model of the battleship Kentucky, which will show in every detail the lines of that great fighting machine. The model will be twelve feet long, and will occupy the place of honor in the great marble lobby in the Exposition Building. It will be placed where all who enter the building will see it, and will have an opportunity to study its appearance. As the people of Kentucky gave a magnificent silver service to be used on this battleship, it will be interesting to see what manner of vessel it is, as there is hardly a community in the state which did not contribute to the fund which was raised for the purchase of the silver service. Besides the beautiful model there will be sent from the Navy Department a number of excellent photographs showing the various war vessels of the navy under varied conditions. The exhibits from the Navy Department will surely lend a great deal of enlightenment for those who live far inland and do not frequently come in touch with things of the sea.

The War Department, requisitioning on the Rock Island Arsenal, will send to the Greater Louisville Exposition a big field gun and two rapid-fire guns, besides samples of ammunition used by them. Twenty stands of the rifles now in use in the United States Army, and a stand of flags, will also be sent. In order to show some of the appliances used by the United States Army in the Philippine Islands, the War Department will send to the exposition a cart to which will be attached a life-size cast of a caraboa, which animal is a peculiar looking ox with horns like those of a goat, which grow out of the sides of his head, from three feet to four and a half feet long.

Those who have braved no war danger will be accurately shown what danger lurks over those who go forth to battle, and there will be many from all parts of this state who will see what their fathers before them faced, and they, as a rule, are themselves ready to face in defense of the flag. These exhibits will be shipped to Norfolk for the Jamestown Exposition as soon as the Greater Louisville Exposition closes. In every respect the War Department treated the Greater Louisville Exposition officials with the same courtesy and attention that they have accorded to officials of other great expositions in the past.

The Postoffice Department consented to the request of the Greater Louisville Exposition officials to establish in the Exposition Building a model substation postoffice, which will show throughout the exposition period the handling of United States mails. As a decorative feature in the postoffice, exhibits from the dead letter office will be shown. It is said by many who have seen this dead letter exhibit that it is among the most interesting examples of the work done by the Postoffice Department that can be found anywhere. When the exposition closes, the exposition postoffice will be put in use as a Louisville substation.

Besides the other exhibits of the Treasury Department, it was at first proposed by the officials of the exposition to borrow from the Treasury Department a coin stamping machine upon which to make the exposition souvenirs. When it was found that a die-maker in Louisville uses an exact replica of the treasury machine in the prosecution of his business, it was decided that the souvenir coins of the exposition could be better made by this Louisville concern, and this plan was adopted so that the exposition, even to the matter of stamped souvenirs, will be truly "Everything made in Louisville."

MINOR MATTERS

Pertinent and Interesting Facts Concerning the Big Exposition.

Louisville's business section will be bravely illuminated every night during the Greater Louisville Exposition.

The hotel keepers of Louisville, recognizing warm friends and old friends in all Kentuckians, have announced that no advance in their rates will be made during the exposition period. They, as well as all other citizens of Louisville, are strongly for Louisville, and for Kentucky all the time.

Ingenuous Kentuckians will find much to please them in the display of inventions, which is now almost complete, in the Greater Louisville Exposition. Every inventor in Louisville has been asked to exhibit the offspring of his ingenuity, and the result will be a remarkable showing. It may be that some visitors will be able to get illuminating ideas from this display.

It has long been known that as a center of literary effort Louisville has considerable renown. Her authors have written everything from theology to short stories for children, and the Division of Literature of the exposition is busy gathering together the works of all of these authors of every form, in order to make a complete display. It is held that no city of its size can rival Louisville in the matter of excellent "home-made" literature.

Elephant Dies Of Remorse.

Remorse, because he had killed his keeper a year ago, caused the death of one of the last elephants in the Jardin des Plantes, Paris. He had a high fever when he killed his keeper, Neef, who had been his best chum for 23 years, ever since the elephant was a baby. The poor beast was so remorseful that he wasted away and finally became nothing but skin and bones. He grew more miserable and moody every day and finally death relieved him.

Miners Fight Death For Gold.

Stoicism and fortitude alone saved a party from the mines of Nevada from freezing to death in an alkali desert of that state. The party was composed of Liuts K. Hauer, of Pittsburgh, and H. M. Hurer, organizers of the Pittsburgh Consolidated Manufacturing Company; A. H. Smith, cashier of the Manhattan bank, and Mrs. Morris B. Dudley, of Goldfield, and Chaffeur Lau. The party was carrying $20,000 in coin in their automobile. They left the town of Tonopah, early in the afternoon. All went well until they were in the alkali plain, when snow began to fall. The wind was blinding and the snow fell in veritable drifts. The party was forced to abandon their car and go four miles on foot to Spanish Springs and safety. They trudged through the snow, Mrs. Dudley aided by two of the men, while the others formed a sort of wind shield. They lost their way several times and were exhausted when they reached a place of safety, but had saved their gold.

CONEY ISLAND'S WONDER.

A Steel Building 700 Feet High And 900 Feet In Circumference.

Monday the first piece of steel for the gigantic globe tower at Coney Island, New York, biggest building in the world, was put in place. There was music by a big band, speeches and plenty of celebration, in which all mid-winter Coney Island took part, to say nothing of a goodly company from Manhattan and Brooklyn.

The new building will be 700 feet high and 900 feet in circumference. It will have eleven floors and 500,000 square feet of floor space—bigger than the Hippodrome, Madison Square Garden, the Academy of Music, the Metropolitan Opera House and the New York Theatre all rolled into one.

Beside it the Washington Monument, the Philadelphia City Hall, the Park Row Building and Chicago's lofty Masonic Temple will look like pigmies. Only the famous Eiffel Tower in Paris is in its class, and it is nothing in majestic proportions—though taller—beside this newest enterprise of Coney Island's.

On these eleven floors there will be all sorts of things to amuse Coney's millions of summer visitors; but the star feature of them all will be the revolving restaurant and cafe, first of the kind in the world. You may eat and drink and in thirty minutes see the four points of the compass for many miles around, all spread out at your feet.

If you are facing north when your oysters are served, you will be looking west for the soup and south when the roast arrives. By the time the coffee and cigars come on you will be back north again. In half an hour you will have travelled 900 feet around the circumference of a great circle, or thirty feet a minute. Not fast enough to make you dizzy but fast enough to let you see the entire panorama of New York, while you are dining leisurely, without moving from your seat at table. You will be 300 feet above the ground while you dine—highest eating place in the land. This revolving cafe will be twenty-five feet wide—500 tables moving slowly around in a great circle. There will be a seating capacity for 2,500 persons at one time.

In mechanical construction this revolving cafe will be something like a moving sidewalk or an escalator. The entire circular platform is to rest on roller bearings. Under the middle of the platform, extending around the entire circumference, is a large, cast-steel rack. At sixteen equidistant points there will be electric motors operating steel pinions. These pinions engage the rack directly and simultaneously move the circular platform slowly and noiselessly around.

This revolving cafe will be on the same floor with the main hall, flush with its concrete floor. The extreme outer edge will be protected by an iron railing six feet high. So it will be impossible for you to fall off into space while you are taking your dinner.

"What will Coney do next?" ask visitors when each new season comes around with its newest marvel. Luna Park and Dreamland, each seemed the summit of achievement. Last year the advent of the Globe Tower was announced—nobody believed it could be done.

But the mighty foundations are laid and now the steel structure is going up. It is promised for May 15 next. It is planned to give the visitor who pays 10 cents admission amusement for an entire day on the eleven floors.

The ground floor will be an automobile garage, together with various small concessions. Just 150 feet above the ground will be the pedestal roof garden, 900 feet in circumference. There will be a popular price restaurant, vaudeville and roller skating rink. When you get 250 feet in the air you will come to the Aerial Hippodrome. Here there will be a continuous four-ring circus. Here, too, will be the telescopes for observation and a miniature railroad running around the 900 feet of circumference.

The main hall and revolving cafe will be 300 feet above the ground, circling around the great ball-room. Another fifty feet and you come to the palm garden in the air, a third restaurant, statuary, fountains and cascades, a scenic aerial railroad and all kinds of novelties. At 500 feet you come to the observatory platform, fitted with telescopes. The ocean, all Coney Island, Greater New York and a goodly part of New Jersey will lie at your feet.

At 600 feet will be stationed the United States Weather Bureau and a wireless telegraph station. It will be the highest weather observatory in the United States, all surmounted by a searchlight, which will not have its duplicate any where on earth for size and brilliancy. The steel flagpole finally pierces the atmosphere at a height of 700 feet.

Some 7,939 tons of steel will be required for the tower. This is more than it took to build the Williamsport Bridge. The whole structure is to be absolutely fireproof, with concrete floors.

There will be huge elevators to take amusement seekers to any floor. Thousands of electric bulbs will outline the structure at night. It will be the first thing to catch the eye when you go to Coney Island; it will be the first thing in New York that passengers on incoming ships will note on the horizon miles away.

This mighty fabric of steel will rest upon 800 concrete piers each thirty feet long and five feet in circumference. Five iron rods will reinforce each one for the entire length. This is a Chicago invention. A gigantic steel cone first drives the steel caisson thirty feet into the ground. Then it is fitted with concrete reinforced with iron rods.

Surmounting each grouping of these piers are concrete footings reinforced with heavy steel grillage beams. From this will soon rise the steel work of the tower until it reaches 700 feet in the air—a finished structure consisting of a great globe supported by mighty semi-circular arches, the whole topped with the loftiest dome in the world. One query remains: What will Coney Island do next, now?

Most Of Them Are Unhealthy. A scientist says no man is in perfect health who ever wants a drink.

INDIGESTION'S RECORD

"The best remedy I can prescribe for your indigestion, madam, is Green's August Flower. I know of several other physicians who prescribe it regularly."

Indigestion is making an awful record as a cause of sudden deaths. It is beating heart-failure in its ghastly harvest. If you read in the papers daily of apparently healthy and even robust men being suddenly attacked with acute indigestion after enjoying a hearty meal, and of their dying in many cases before a physician could be called in.

This should be a warning to you who suffer with regular or periodical attacks of indigestion. If these unfortunate victims of acute indigestion had taken a small dose of Green's August Flower before or after their meals they would not have fallen a prey to such sudden seizures. August Flower prevents indigestion by creating good digestion. It also regulates the liver, purifies the blood and tones up the entire system in a natural way. Two sizes, 25c and 75c. All druggists.

Do You Want to Know

What You Swallow?

There is a growing sentiment in this country in favor of the use of laxatives. It is but natural that one should have some interest in the composition of that which he or she is expected to swallow, whether it be food, drink or medicine.

Recognizing this growing disposition on the part of the public, and satisfied that the fullest publicity can only add to the well-earned reputation of his medicines, Dr. E. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has "taken time by the forelock," as it were, and is publishing broadcast a list of all the ingredients entering into his leading medicines, the "Golden Medical Discovery," the popular liver invigorator, stomach tonic, blood purifier and heart regulator; also of his "Favorite Prescription" for weak, over-worked, broken-down, nervous and invalid women.

This bold and outspoken movement on the part of Dr. Pierce, has, by showing exactly what his well-known medicines are composed of, completely disarmed all harping critics who have heretofore unjustly attacked them. A little pamphlet has been compiled, from the standard medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, showing the strongest endorsements by leading medical writers of the several ingredients which enter into Dr. Pierce's medicines. A copy of this little book is mailed free to any one desiring to learn more concerning the valuable, native, medicinal plants which enter into the composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are tiny, sugar-coated anti-bilious granules. They regulate and invigorate Stomach, Liver and Bowels. Do not forget the "pill habit," but cure constipation. One or two each day for a laxative and regulator, three or four for an active cathartic. Once tried always in favor.

$50,000 GIVEN AWAY. In copies of Dr. Pierce's medicines. The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book that sold to the extent of 500,000 copies a few years ago, at $1.50 per copy. Last year we gave away $50,000 worth of these invaluable books. This year we shall give away $50,000 worth of them. Will you share in this benefit? If so, send only 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only for book in stiff paper covers, or 31 stamps for cloth bound. Address Dr. E. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Where Angels Fear to Tread.

A company of young American tourists visited the home of Beethoven in Bonn and were unrestrained in their expressions of wonder, admiration and approval of the room where the master had lived and worked. They asked many questions about Beethoven, and finally one young lady seated herself at his piano and proceeded, with true American confidence, to play the "Moonlight Sonata," Beethoven's own work, in his own room, on his own piano. Such an interesting combination!

The old caretaker stood there, stern and silent. When the performance was over the young lady turned to the old man and said:

"I suppose many musicians have been here and have played on this instrument?"

"Paderewski was here once, madame."

"Ah!" she sighed.

"But," continued the faithful guardian, "when some one urged him to play on Beethoven's piano he said, 'No, I am not worthy.'"

When the Disease Let Go.

An old man was just recovering from an operation, and as he lay regaining consciousness he heard the doctor say to a nurse regarding some powders to be given him, "If one every hour is too much give him a half one every half hour." The old gentleman raised himself up on his elbow and said:

"Say, doc, that reminds me of a man that had a Newfoundland dog. His wife got so tired of having him (the dog, not the man) track up the floors and porches that finally she made her husband take the dog to town and sell him. That afternoon he returned radiant. 'Well,' he said, 'I've sold him for $25.' 'Good!' cried his wife. 'I can get that hat now.' 'But,' continued the man, 'I bought two puppies with the money.'"

The doctor looked at the nurse and said:

"I think he'll recover."

Sacred Monkeys of India.

In "Living Animals of the World" some curious stories are told about the habits and characteristics of the monkey tribes. It seems that the entellus monkey is the most sacred of all in India. It is gray above and nutty brown below, long legged and active, a thief and an impudent robber. In one of the Indian cities they became such a nuisance that the faithful determined to catch and send away some hundreds. This was done, and the holy monkeys were deported in covered carts and released many miles off. But the monkeys were too clever. Having thoroughly enjoyed their ride, they refused to part with the carts and, hopping and grinning, came leaping all the way back beside them to the city, grateful for their outing. One city obtained leave to kill the monkeys, but the next city then sued them for "killing their deceased ancestors."

Ways of the Flying Fish.

Flying fish swim in shoals varying in number from a dozen to a hundred or more. They often leave the water at once, darting through the air in the same direction for 200 yards or more, and then descend to the water quickly, rising again and then renewing their flight. Sometimes the dolphin may be seen in rapid pursuit, taking great leaps out of the water and gaining upon his prey, which take shorter and shorter flights, vainly trying to escape, until they sink exhausted. Sometimes the larger sea birds catch flying fish in the air. The question whether the flying fish use their fins at all as wings is not fully decided. The power of flight is limited to the time the fins remain moist.

How Birds' Nests Are Made Round.

The little abandoned nest had fallen from the tree. The nature student lifted it from the ground.

"How round it is," he said. "No cup rim could be rounder. Don't you wonder how the bird, with neither rule nor compass, can make her nest so round? Well, she does it easily. She builds the nest about her breast, turning round and round in it, and its circular character comes spontaneously and inevitably. The circle is found everywhere in the buildings of the lower animals. The straight line, on the other hand, they can never achieve."

Vulgar Fractions.

Everything that Bobby learned at school he endeavored to apply in his daily life and walk. When his mother asked him if one of his new friends was an only child Bobby looked wise and triumphant.

"He's got just one sister," said Bobby. "He tried to catch me when he told me he had two half sisters, but I guess I know enough fractions for that!"—Youth's Companion.

The Reason For It.

"No," said the imbibed person, "when I want financial assistance I go to strangers. I do not ask friends or relatives."

"Well," answered the logical man, "maybe that's the best way. Friends and relatives are in a position to keep posted on a man's record."—Washington Star.

Man's Love For Woman.

"If a man loves a woman for her looks he will love her for five years. If he loves her mind he will love her for ten years. If he loves her ways he will love her forever." And every woman believes when she marries that her lover loves her ways.

W. H. McMillan Sustains Loss By Fire.

The home of Luke Stafford, a prominent Franklin county tobacco grower, was completely destroyed by fire about 4 o'clock this afternoon. The place is owned by W. H. McMillan, of this city, and is about half of a mile west of Jetts Station.

The family was sitting in the house, which was a two-story frame when the fire broke out, but did not discover it until the room fell in on them. Stafford had four thousand pounds of tobacco stored in a rear room which was also destroyed. He was to have brought it to the Society of Equity pooling warehouse on Monday. His insurance on the tobacco ran out the 19th of this month, making his loss a heavy one.

Kentucky Distillers To Form An Association.

Whisky circles were stirred yesterday by the announcement that several of the largest Kentucky distillers of straight whisky had determined to sever all interests with dealers in rectified whisky and that they would form an association to be known as the Kentucky Pure Food Distiller's Association for the conservation wholly of the straight whisky interests of Kentucky. As soon as the new association is organized, which will be within the next thirty days, the distillers who now are affiliated with the Kentucky Distiller's Association will withdraw from membership in that organization. J. B. Thompson, of Harrodsburg, who has been active in the preliminary work of forming the new association, said that he would call a meeting of the distillers to be held in Louisville in about two weeks' time and he thought that a permanent organization could be effected within a short time afterward.

Gans-Nelson Fight Pictures.

An exhibition of more than usual interest will be the reproduction of the celebrated Gans-Nelson fight by moving pictures at the Paris Grand tonight. The Gans-Nelson fight was one of the most stubbornly contested bouts that ever took place in this country, and roused intense enthusiasm among the lovers of the art of self-defense. This reproduction of the fight is perfect in every detail, comprises ten of the principal rounds, including the knockout. All of the tedious, uninteresting rounds have been omitted. The entire production of the fight lasts 40 minutes. It will be a continuous performance from 7 to 10:30 p. m. The admission is 10 and 20 cents, and you can come any time up to 10 p. m. and see the entire fight.

—One of the most interesting social events of the season was the introduction into society Thursday evening last of Miss Edna Turney, daughter of the late Canby Dan Turney, by a brilliant cotillion given at Elks' Hall by her sister, Mrs. Harry B. Clay. Miss Turney is a lovely representative of one of Bourbon's oldest and proudest families, and the occasion of her debut was appropriately arranged on the anniversary of the birth of George Washington, "Father of his country."

The hall was beautifully and tastefully decorated with banners, flags, bunting, cherry trees, hatchets, three cornered hats and all the pretty trifles that bring to memory the stirring period of '1776."

The favors carried out the same idea—tiny flags on pins, a bunch of cherries in gum leaves, hatchets tied with red, white and blue, with hats filled with bon-bons.

Miss Turney, the central figure of the evening, was gown in a pale blue chiffon half-empire and wore a wreath of forget-me-nots in her hair. The grand march was announced at 9:15 o'clock and was beautifully and gracefully led by Miss Turney and Mr. Owen Davis. At the midnight hour the floor was cleared and after a brief intermission the guests returned for the delicious luncheon characteristic of the hospitality of the Turney-Clay families. Dancing was resumed shortly after 1 o'clock a. m. and continued merrily till the early morning hour when the guests departed to the sweet strains of "Home Sweet Home," from Saxton's Orchestra.

Recollections Of John G. Carlisle.

They say that John G. Carlisle is going to marry again, and this time to the widowed sister of Harry St. George Tucker. Those who know the lonely man well, the lonely and very friendly and sociable man, will wish him well, whether the matrimonial rumor be true or false. It was pretty late in his life when he was exiled from Kentucky, his native State, which he had served so long and whose great man he was until he opposed the now abandoned 16 to 1 offspring of the cheap-money combination. When the second Cleveland administration was finished, there was no place in Kentucky for John Carlisle. He had been attacked and assaulted in his own city of Covington because he was, so they said, Goebel and others, a traitor to the "white metal." They said that he had made Dick Bland chairman of the Coinage Committee when he was first Speaker of the House of Representatives, and had given other evidence of his fondness for silver.

As a matter of fact, when Mr. Carlisle made up his first committees there were two other men present, and one of these says that Bland was given the chairmanship because he was the senior Democrat who had served on the committee, and not to have given him the promotion which was naturally his would have lost to the tariff reformers the support that they needed against Randall and the Republicans. And it was in the tariff and not in silver that the Carlisle element were interested. Carlisle did not study the silver question until years afterward, and when he did he became a single gold standard man. But his people thought him a traitor and exiled him, just as the people in Charleston, in West Virginia, exiled William Wilson, the farmers even refusing to sell him fodder for his horse, so that were the silver men less than a dozen years ago. Now Carlisle is abandoning life in this strange metropolis, and is going back to his house in Washington, in which he lived for the many years when he was almost presenting his services to the Government before he came here to make gold for himself.—Harper's Weekly.

The Price Of A Cow.

At a recent Grange meeting in New York State this question was discussed: "What is the average cow worth, when butter is 22 cents a pound, milk 6 cents a quart, cheese 13 cents, pasture 50 cents a week, hay $10 a ton and ground feed $1.20 per 100 pounds?" Nearly every member present took some part in the debate, and the substance of the discussion was that under these conditions a cow would be worth about $40.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials. Address: F. J. The Limit of Life.

The most eminent medical scientists are unanimous in the conclusion that the generally accepted limitation of human life is many years below the attainment possible with the advanced knowledge of which the race is now possessed. The critical period, that determines its duration, seems to be between 50 and 60: the proper care of the body during this decade cannot be too strongly urged: carelessness then being fatal to longevity. Nature's best helper after 50 is Electric Bitters, the scientific tonic medicine that revitalizes every organ of the body. Guaranteed by Oberdorfer, the druggist, 50 cents.

An epidemic of smallpox prevails in Owen county. There are no less than six neighborhoods and villages in the county affected by the epidemic. Dr. B. W. Smock, of Louisville, representing the State Board of Health, is on the ground, and with the co-operation of the Owen Fiscal Court and the County Health Board has taken up the matter of stamping the disease out. All told, there are more than 100 cases in the section, and the disease is spreading to almost every part of the county. So far there have been no deaths, but many of the cases are very severe.

To-day we want to talk to you about "Catarrh cures"

During the past few months we have been publishing what some of our good friends have called "heart-to-heart talks" on patent medicines.

That name suits us all right—"heart-to-heart talks" is just what we have intended. There can't be anything more serious to a sick man or sick woman than his ailment and the remedies he or she takes to cure it.

Our talks have been "heart-to-heart." Every word we have printed, has been written in absolute earnestness and sincerity, and judging from what our customers tell us, we have not been talking in vain. We are convinced that our frankness has been appreciated, and that our suggestions have been welcomed—which naturally encourages us to continue.

To-day, and perhaps for some time to come, we want to talk about that big class of remedies known generally as "catarrh cures."

Broadly speaking these are the patent medicines that have been the chief targets for the attacks of the "Ladies' Home Journal," "Collier's Weekly" and other magazines which are waging such a lively warfare against patent medicine abuses.

As we have pointed out in previous talks, it is not our business to pass judgment on the crusade of these well-known, highly-respected publications. The public alone must be the judge and jury. Our business, as we see it, is to carry in stock a complete line of patent medicines, and to sell those medicines at the lowest possible price.

We sell hundreds—yes, thousands of bottles of so-called "catarrh cures," and know nothing of their ingredients. The manufacturers advertise them, the public demands them; we order them from the manufacturers, and sell them at the lowest price. That is absolutely as far as our knowledge goes. The manufacturer keeps his formula a secret. It may be good, or it may not—we don't know, and we have no means of finding out.

Naturally, we would rather sell a remedy that we know is right—that we can back up with all our reputation for honesty and square-dealing.

And wouldn't you rather buy that kind of a remedy? Wouldn't you rather hold us responsible than to hold no one responsible? We are right here, right where you can get at us every day in the week, right where one false move on our part will bring upon us your condemnation, the loss of your friendship, your patronage, your influence. Can we afford to tell you anything that you will learn later is not absolutely true?

Are you not safer in taking our word for the merits of an article, than you are to rely on the printed statement of a patent medicine manufacturer, whom you never even saw and probably never will?

Common sense most emphatically tells you that we cannot afford to depart one hair's breadth from the rigid truth.

None of us can deny that there is such a disease known as "catarrh." Those who have it, or who have had it, know that it is one of the hardest diseases to cure.

Perhaps the worst thing about catarrh is its prevalence. Almost everyone—especially in a climate like ours—has catarrh in some form or another. That is what has made the "catarrh cure" business so profitable. There are so many thousands of cases of the disease and it is so hard to cure, that the patent medicine manufacturers have reaped a harvest in preparing remedies that appeal to this large class of sufferers.

One of the most serious things about catarrh is that it breaks down the system, so that the sufferer becomes a prey to other diseases. This fact has led the proprietors of so many "catarrh cures" to advertise their remedies as a specific for almost every disease under the sun.

We have ONE catarrh cure that we are willing to say to you: "We know this is all right. Take it home and use it with the full assurance that if it does not cure you, you can bring it back to us and we will promptly refund your money." That catarrh cure is

TRADE NAME

MUCU-TONE

There is no guess work with us on Rexall Mucu-Tone. We know what it is made of.

Not only do we know, but we will give you a copy of the formula.

There is no secret about any Rexall remedy—we make them—one thousand of our leading druggists all over America—in our great co-operative laboratories at Boston, Mass. We own the laboratories, and everything in them, and we operate them just as skillfully as our combined brains and money will let us, and just as honestly as honest men know how.

The Ingredients of Mucu-Tone

The chief ingredients of Mucu-Tone are Gentian, Cubebs, Cascara Sagrada, Glycerine, and Sarsaparilla.

Gentian is recognized in medicine as one of the greatest tonics ever discovered. It is the foundation on which Mucu-Tone is built. Gentian combines in high degree the tonic powers of all the known "bitters," with none of the disadvantages applying to them.

Cubebs have long been recognized as a specific in the treatment of all catarrhal conditions. Its action is prompt and its benefits almost invariable. In whatever part of the body the inflamed or diseased condition of the mucous membrane exists, the use of Cubebs has been recommended by the best physicians for many generations.

Cascara Sagrada is especially introduced for its necessary laxative properties.

The combination of these with Glycerine and Sarsaparilla makes Mucu-Tone a remedy that attacks catarrh from every point, gradually restores and rebuilds the diseased tissues to their former health and strength, promotes digestion and creates a normal appetite. Large trial bottle, 50c.

LOUISVILLE MEN "SHOW SPEED"

Greater Louisville Exposition Opening March 18 For Two Weeks—Will Have Creators, Famous Musicians, Baseball, Low Rates — In Fact Everything of Interest.

As the time for the opening of the Greater Louisville Exposition draws nearer, the interest in that great event in this and all other sections of the state of Kentucky, as well as throughout the South, is greatly increasing. The visitors to Louisville will return home and give expressions of deep interest in the exposition and pride in the enterprise and public spirit of the exposition officials who are working so hard in the interest of their state and city, without prospect or wish for any pecuniary gain.

Showing what pride they take in their city's great enterprise, the merchants and manufacturers of Louisville have covered their envelopes and stationery almost over with advertising matter concerning the exposition, and the title, "Greater Louisville Exposition," seems to appear in the most unexpected quarters at the most unexpected time. Louisville "drummers" who visit here let no one escape, and, if for no other reason, the people of Kentucky will be bound to go to Louisville between March 18 and 30 to see what has been so widely heralded. This will be a matter of easy accomplishment, because the railroad of Kentucky have announced a rate of one fare for the round trip, with three selling dates each week, the tickets good returning until April 1. Besides these splendid rates, many single-day excursions will be run, and it is said by the railroad officials composing the Southeastern Passenger Association that the rates for these excursions will be the best ever offered for a similar enterprise.

FRED LEVY,
President of the Louisville Commercial Club, and Vice President of the Greater Louisville Exposition Company.

The Division of Programme of the exposition is now busily engaged in preparing the plans for various special days. Interesting programmes will be arranged for these special days, and the music by the great Creators' band will be an added attraction to the exposition twice daily. This band of sixty renowned soloists is recognized everywhere as being absolutely the foremost organization of its kind, and the twice daily concerts will be included in the extraordinarily low price of admission, which will be twenty-five cents for adults and fifteen cents for children. For special days, Sig. Creatore has very graciously consented to make his programme typical of the occasion. The following days have been decided upon, and plans are in train to make each one a unique success: Dedication Day, Edison Day, Children's Day, Greater Louisville and Falls Cities Day, All Kentucky Day, Fraternal Day, Transportation Day, Woman's Day, University Day, Music Day, Newspaper Day and Getaway Day.

It will be of interest to lovers of the national game to know that the Louisville baseball team will contest with two major league teams during the exposition period, playing five games in all. It can be seen that the people of Kentucky will have a splendid opportunity of seeing the Greater Louisville Exposition, hear Creatore's famous band, and see such magnificent baseball organizations as the Chicago National League team and the Boston Americans. Boston will play three games, March 23, 24 and 25, while Chicago will play two games, March 28 and 29.

There is no citizen of Louisville who does not stand ready to extend a warm and brotherly welcome to his fellow Kentuckian from any part of the state. Likewise a warm and hospitable welcome will be extended to all exposition visitors.

The hotel keepers in Louisville have announced to the state in particular and to the South in general that there will be no advance in charges during the exposition period. The forbearance of these public entertainers has been noticeable in the past, and it will likely redound greatly to their profit

Defective plumbing permits the entrance into the house of sewer gas bearing germs of contagious disease to which the human system readily succumbs. What Winchester Has Done.

As evidence of what a live Commercial Club can do for a town, we quote a few extracts from an editorial of Desha, Breckinridge, in Sunday's Lexington Herald, who delivered an address before that body last week.

"The Commercial Club of Winchester has a good reason to plume its feathers and strut and even crow a little loudly. It has done and is doing remarkable work, and it has the self-confidence and enthusiasm which makes results certain. A movement has been started to raise $25,000 for a Young Men's Christian Association building. Every member who mentioned this announced, not as a matter of hope or of speculation but as a settled fact, that that sum would be raised in the next ninety days. And it will be. We do not know how it is to be done; we do not know who is going to give the money; we doubt, from what we know of Winchester, if any one individual gives any very large sum, but we believe that they will have that money within the time limit that they have set for themselves. There is a factory at Winchester for the manufacture of gas engines which employs between thirty-five and forty men and turns out an engine a day; it is doubling its capacity so that it will employ between seventy and eighty men and turn out two engines a day. Local men organized the company, put their money into it, and the stock which they paid $100 for two years ago is now worth in the open market $250. They have secured a factory, that makes some of the barbarous instruments dentists use, which employs, so we are told between fifteen and twenty people. They have secured a factory to make overalls, which employs over thirty people. At a meeting of the club to decide on the site for a public building there were over eighty members present, and the question was discussed and considered and decided not for the private interest of any property holders, nor for the benefit of any particular section of the town, but with an eye single to the most available and suitable location for the convenience of all the citizens, and the ultimate growth of the town.

"How much greater can the results accomplished if the commercial bodies of all the towns of the Blue Grass work together; if, as we have attempted to point out in the speech we wrote, the citizens of the Blue Grass come to realize that they are citizens of the Blue Grass instead of merely citizens of any particular town or city. Of course, there must be local pride, there must be the inspiration which comes from seeing immediate, tangible results, and the various cities must continue to be competitors in certain ways for certain objects; but there are so many things for which they can work together, there are so many opportunities that they can take advantage of if there is a body representing the whole Blue Grass. Along the single line of securing factories, it may often occur that factories which are going to move might be secured by some town in the Blue Grass which is peculiarly suitable as to advantages when no other town could secure it; we all want to realize that it is to the advantage of every town to secure a factory for any other town. Let that town best suited for its location have the united support of all the others. To accomplish the broader objects of revision of our tax laws and improvement in our freight rates, the granting of home rule to our cities, the inculcation of faith in Kentucky enterprises which will prompt Kentuckians to put their money in their own State, such an organization can be of infinite service."

Big Theft At Sub-Treasury.

One hundred and seventy-three thousand dollars was stolen from the sub-treasury at Philadelphia last Wednesday.

The money disappeared completely as if it had vanished through the air. Detectives from Washington have been working on the robbery since the money disappeared.

One man examined, showed signs of breaking down. Just what he admitted the secret service men refused to disclose. The money was taken in bills of the denomination of one thousand, five thousand and ten thousand dollar bills.

LAST ROUND WITH JEROME.

Evelyn Thaw Again On The Stand To Face District Attorney.

Before the Thaw trial opened yesterday morning it was rumored that District Attorney Jerome would apply for a lunacy commission to decide on Thaw's mental condition.

Evelyn Thaw was the first witness on the stand. Jerome continued his merciless cross-examination. The witness appeared to have recovered from her breakdown of last week. Early questions did not bring out any sensational testimony. The witness identified a letter written by White in June, 1902, in which he said upon receipt of written notification that she was about to take a vacation, weekly checks for $25 would be sent for a total sum of $100.

Harry Thaw was greatly amused to find in his mail a postal card bearing a drawing of the jury in its shirt sleeves engaged in a violent wrangle, with Justice Fitzgerald in an excited attitude trying to pacify the jury.

Thaw laughed over the card and showed it to those at the Tombs.

Evelyn walked to the witness chair with a springy step and seemed well, except that her eyes had a sad look. She had borne up wonderfully and was evidently prepared to finish her fight.

Jerome began the examination by asking her if, while living in Allegheny, she had had trouble with her mother, and had run away with another girl.

Evelyn denied this, and Jerome dropped the subject. Jerome turned to Evelyn's meeting with Harry Thaw. Through the aid of Mrs. Holman's statement he brought out the fact that shortly after meeting her Thaw had sent Evelyn $50 with a box of flowers, but she returned the money.

"Where did you meet Thaw?" asked Jerome.

"At dinner at Rector's."

"Who gave it?"

"Mr. Thaw."

"Was your mother there?"

"No."

"Who did you go to dinner with?"

"Another girl who had been another 'Florence' girl."

"Was Frances Belmont there?"

"No."

"What time of day was that dinner held?"

"Directly after the matinee."

"Did Thaw appear irrational in any way?"

"No."

"When he paid the bill did he not have a dispute with the waiter?"

"No," smilingly answered Evelyn.

"When did you next meet Thaw?"

"I think he came to call on us. It may have been a week or two later."

"Had Thaw ever given you any presents up to this time?"

"No, except flowers, which he sent to the theatre."

"Did Thaw ever send money with flowers?"

"Yes. He sent some money one night and I sent it back."

"Did not his sending it strike you as improper?"

"I don't remember. I was used to seeing other girls get money that way."

"How much money did he send?"

"Fifty dollars, I think."

Jerome drew from the witness that after she returned Thaw's money she continued to go out with him.

"Did you see anything improper in this after he had sent you money?"

"No, I don't think I did."

Deed Recorded.

The following deed was left for record in the County Clerk's office yesterday: Mary A. Slack, to John J. Peed, 289 acres of land on Hinkston creek, consideration $7,177.45.

Weather Forecast.

Partly cloudy weather without much change in the temperature today.

Mr. P. J. Millett, of Maplelawn Stock Farm and Mr. J. Hal Woodford shipped last week 12 thoroughbred 2-year-olds to Lexington where they will go in training for the Spring Meeting. Mr. Frank Grosche has charge of the bang-tails.

LIVE STOCK AND CROP ITEMS.

—W. T. Overby has purchased the following crops of tobacco the past week: Of L. R. Rogers, 14,000 pounds at 19 and 4 cents; of James McClure & Plummer, 14,000 pounds at 12 1/2 cents; of J. H. Letton, 10,000 pounds at 10 and 3 cents; of Thos. Beeding, 10,000 pounds at 7 1/2 cents. He also bought the purchase of Reese & Goodings, of Ewing, 42,000 pounds at 8 1/2 cents. He reports several hundred thousand pounds yet unsold in Bourbon.

—A. B. Harney sold his farm of 104 1/2 acres one mile from Cynthiana on the Leesburg pike to R. L. Stokely for $10,700, and purchased of J. M. Ford his farm of 94 acres on the Millersburg pike for $7,500. The sales were made by Berry & Osborne.

—At the Maysville Tobacco Fair last week, J. C. Morris, of Paris, received second premium for one peck of wheat and one peck of potatoes.

—Auctioneer Forsyth reports sale of Ira Soper at Little Rock Saturday: Horses, $155 to $165; mules, $55 to $75; cows, $1 to $42; calf, $15; sow, $25.25; three sows, $116; corn, $3 per barrel. On farm implements and household furniture high prices were realized. Good crowd and rough weather.

—At F. Barton & Company's sale of seventy head of fancy saddle, harness and road horses, at Cynthiana, fair prices were realized, ranging from $150 to $250 per head. The principal purchasers being Messrs. W. H. Kerr, Asa Jewell, Ward Lutes, of Lexington; J. T. Crenshaw, Falmouth; Nathan Bayless and Walter Clark, of Paris.

—Wood Clay, whose stable will attract considerable attention on the Eastern tracks this summer on account of the prominence of his great three-year-old colt Kentucky Beau, will not train Outcome nor Single Shot this season. Both of the mares will be bred in the latest information that comes from the farm, unless Mr. Clay changes his mind as to the future of the mares. The Clay stable is as usual getting its early preparation under the care of the accomplished negro trainer French Brooks. The young material is in the pink of condition and should make a great showing this season. Mr. Clay is planning a trip to Mexico and may leave for the South before the end of next week.

Ex-Parisian In Bad.

The Lexington Leader says "Sam Link, the barber, who was arrested on Saturday for brutally beating his young and delicate wife, was tried before Squire Oldham at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon and giving a sentence of $50 and costs. The fine was suspended during good behavior. The trial occupied only a few minutes. Attorney David Hunter, for the plaintiff, Mrs. Link, requested a jury and Court swore in Wm. Wood, B. Corbin, A. S. Hall, T. A. Wood, Frank Myers and C. W. St. Clair.

The only witness called was the prisoner's wife, who swore out the warrant charging him with a breach of the peace and with beating her.

"When Mrs. Link took the stand her condition was apparent to all in the crowded court room. She is slight and blonde, young and pretty, of a delicate child-like mould and was so weak that she tottered when taking her chair."

Spring Racing.

The Louisville Jockey Club is said to have entered into an agreement with the Tilles-Cella-Adler Racing Syndicate whereby it has secured control of Douglas Park Jockey Club for five years. This means that there will be no conflict in the dates and that racing in Louisville for five years will be under the management of the Jockey Club. The thirty days' spring meeting will take place at Churchill Downs and the thirty days' fall meeting will be held at Douglas Park. The Douglas Park Club will practically cease to exist for five years.

Under the same agreement, races at Latonia are to be in charge of the Eastern Jockey Club, which controlled Douglas Park. There will be no conflict between Latonia and Louisville.

Smallest Engine Made.

Tiny Tim is the smallest of all engines, and is the work of T. H. Robinson of Montreal. It is made of gold and steel, and is so small that a common horse fly seems large in comparison. It fits easily into the smallest 22 short cartridge, balance wheel and all.

It weighs just four grains complete, that is about the weight of a common match. It takes 120 such engines to weigh one ounce, and 1,920 to weigh one pound—3,840,000 engines equal one ton. The engine bed and stand are of gold. The shaft runs in hardened and ground steel bearing inserted in the gold bed. These bearings are counter bored from the inside to form a self-oiling bearing. The fly wheel has a steel center and arms, with gold rim; and this part, the complete wheel, weighs one grain. The cylinder is of steel with octagonal base highly polished. The stroke is 1-32 of an inch; bore, 1-100 of an inch; 17 pieces are used in the construction of this engine.

The feed is through the gold base which is hollow. The speed of this engine is 6,000 revolutions per minute. When running 100 per second, no motion is visible to the eye, but it makes a note like the noise of a mosquito—caused by the vibrating piston rod. The horsepower is 1-498,000 of one horse power. Compressed air is used to run these engines, and it may be of interest to note that the amount required to make the large engine hum can easily be borne on the eyeball without winking."

The proposed congressional postal law restricts the amount of advertising a newspaper may carry. The publishers would like to be able to restrict the output of Congressional windjamming.

The Sioux City Journal says that few men would give $32,000,000 to education, as Mr. Rockefeller has done. This very true, but there are thousands of men who would dearly love to be able to do it.

It having been reported that President Roosevelt declared that the place for women is in the home, Secretary Loeb might just as well begin preparations to assume responsibility for the remark.

Women ticket sellers are to be employed on the New York Elevated road. The reason given is that they are more dexterous in handling and making change than men. The real reason is that they can be secured for about half the wages that men demand.

200 Killed By Cyclone.

Two hundred people were killed and thousands rendered homeless in a cyclone which struck southern points of the Philippine Islands, according to special telegrams received yesterday. No details of the disaster were given, owing to the fact that communication with the afflicted point is seriously interrupted.

Opinion Of Kentucky Court In Thaw Case.

A copy of the Court of Appeals' decision in the Shipp case, from Taylor county, was forwarded to Delphin M. Delmas by J. H. Hazelrigg, upon receipt of a telegram from Thaw's lawyer asking for the opinion.

Lawyers remarked when the opinion was handed down last week for the similarity in many features between this case and the Thaw case. Shipp shot to death James Smith, after Shipp's wife had confessed to him her wrongdoing with his victim. He pleaded insanity but was given a life sentence in the Taylor Circuit Court.

This judgment the Court of Appeals overruled, laying down a number of important rules of evidence for cases of such character, which it is believed Delmas may find useful in the Thaw case.

President Frost Changes His Mind.

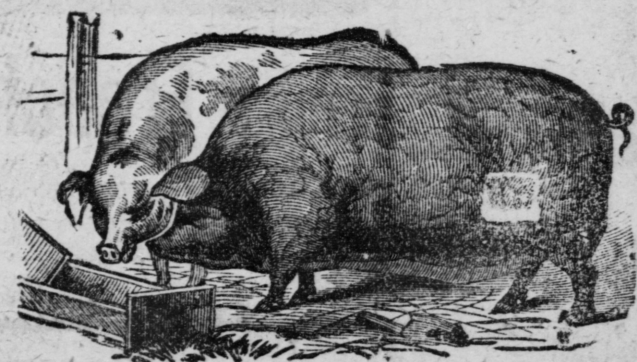

An Associated Press dispatch from Boston follows: "President Eliot of Harvard University, President Frost of Berea college, Kentucky, and the Right Rev. William Lawrence, Episcopal bishop, of Washington, speaking before the Twentieth Century Club, expressed themselves as being more or less in favor of separate public schools for negroes. President Eliot defended the separate school system of the South, and said that the thirty colored students now at Harvard are not enough to make an influence for evil on the student mass of the university. He said, however, that if he number increased to any extent he should favor a separation. President Frost described the conditions and methods of conducting Berea college where the races are separated. Bishop Lawrence agreed with President Eliot to a certain extent. He thought there might be separate institutions when the two populations were nearly equal."
